

In 1835 he became one of the lecturers in the pastorate of the Central Methodist Church and philosophy and philosophy at Miami. There he attracted attention as a lecturer on moral and Biblical subjects and as a supporter of popular education. In 1839 he became president of the Ohio

The award might be earned without any conscious effort on the part of the individual, but to keep one's good record and certainly does no harm in the race. The real goal, of course, is to win the award but the progress which it represents. If you strive and fail to win the award you will still have won something far more worthwhile than the $25. The greater degree of improvement you will have achieved is a permanent thing, and always yours. So get set, Freshmen, let's go!

The inspection of Mr. Butler's farm proved conclusively to the class that good livestock can be raised just as easily and much more profitably than poor stock. The trip also proved that there is little danger of a sun-stroke in an open truck in the early morning in November.

Alumni

(The Vquette intends to present in each issue a column devoted entirely to the activities and accomplishments of our alumni and former students. We are dependent to a large extent upon outside sources in gathering this information. If you have the "lowdown" on any of our alumni please send it in.)

Many of the former athletes of the Junior College are achieving or are preparing to achieve distinction in various fields. Among them are:

1928—
George Horton of Newbern, is an instructor in the Entomology department of North Carolina State College, Raleigh, North Carolina. George received his Bachelor's degree at Knoxville and his Master's degree at North Carolina State. He has completed part of the work on his Doctor's degree at Harvard University.
Billy McMahon, Collierville, is teaching Smith-Hughes work in Shelby County.

Fran KJune Montgomery, Newbern, is teaching in the high school at Kingsport, Tennessee.

Van Morgan, Martin, is now employed as dormitory supervisor at Norris Dam, Norris, Tennessee. Watch out, they may throw the dormitory over next!

Edric Owen, Curve, will receive his degree at Milligan College this year.

Lloyd Thomas, Martin, is attending Union University.

1929—
Burns Garret, Dresden, is now practicing law in Washington, D.C. Don Duke is teaching school in North Carolina.

1930—
Robert Elliot is coach of the Wynne, Arkansas, High School.

William Aycock, Millington, is serving his internship in a St. Louis hospital. We are told that it is the biggest hospital in the city.

W. T. Duscove, Somerville, has recently been appointed Assistant County Agent of Decatur County. Duscove was with us in 1928-29, 1929-30, and again in the Summer, 1934. "Ducky," you had better stay out of Sugar Tree's peanut patch.

Miss Charlie Jones, Sharon, was a recent visitor to the Home Economics department of the College.

John Elliott, Martin, is studying medicine in a medical school at Little Rock, Arkansas.

Frank Adair, Decaturville, is serving his internship in the General Hospital at Memphis.

David Pleasant (Sinker Bill) Headen, Kenton, is doing scientific farming. He reports that he is practicing the customs learned at the Junior College.

1931—
Frank Taylor, Bruceton, is the representative of the Hunt Athletic Goods Supply Company of Mayfield, Kentucky, for all the territory in West Tennessee and Western Kentucky. Frank is also the president of the Junior College branch of the University of Tennessee Alumni Association.

James Caldwell (Mutt) Durdin, Camden, is the coach and a teacher of the Camden High School.

Hugh Allen Bassham, Selmer, is the principal of the high school at Finger, Tennessee.

1932—
Noel Stafford, Oakland, is principal of the grammar school at Somerville. He is also the assistant coach of those mighty Fayette County High Panthers, who have piled up 215 points to their opponents' 38, winning seven, tying two, and losing two. We wonder, Noel, if you still remember those soda jerking days.

Roy Biggs recently returned from the Cumberland University Law School. We hear he made a good record and several worth-while acquaintances. Roy, you can have our next case.

Gordon Barrett is teaching agriculture at Pine Top. We understand that he is planning to enter Lambuth soon.

1933—
Virginia Ryan, Martin, is teaching at Stella-Ruth.

Gene Looney, Collierville, recently came in twelfth in a field of 500 who entered the annual cross-country run at Texas A. & M. That's showing them, Gene.

Edward Jones, Yorkville, first winner of the Alpha Zeta cup, is connected with the State Department of agriculture in the Division of Plant Disease Control. He inspects Certified Sweet Potatoes in the field and in storage houses. He also inspects Strawberry plants. Edward is also a member of the W. F. Jones & Sons firm at Yorkville, which owns the prize-winning Jersey dairy herd which goes on the fair circuit every fall. One of Edward's favorite cows was recently sold to the Tennessee Valley Authority for one of the many fine foundation cattle they have purchased for their newly established breeding association. Edward recently passed the college sporting a swell new car. Atta boy, "Doc Blair," keep up the good work.

There will be several new names and dope in the next issue. So watch out. We may get "your number" next.

WITH THE CLUBS!

International Club Meeting.

The International Relations Club held its regular meeting in the Industrial Arts building on Tuesday night, November 27. In spite of the heavy rain, a majority of the members were present. The program dealt with the League of Nations, and the following features were discussed: "The Structure of the League"

Billy Cowan

"The League and It's Work"

Charles Williams

"The U. S. and the League"

June Bushart

The program was interesting and enjoyable. The next program will be a round-table discussion on the subject, "The U. S. Should, or Should Not, Enter the League."

The next meeting will be held on December 12. Visitors are always welcome.

Mrs. Shaffer Addresses Kappa Nu.

The members of the Kappa Nu held their regular monthly meeting on Tuesday night, December 3, in the social room of the Girls' Dormitory. The following program was given:

Scripture Reading.....Opal Garner
Address.....Mrs. Shaffer
Piano Solo.....Mildred Derryberry
Tap Dance.....Mary McCaleb

Mrs. Shaffer chose for her subject, "A Well-Rounded Personality." In this helpful and stimulating address, Mrs. Shaffer explained that a well-rounded personality is necessary if one would be a success in life. We were told that in order to succeed we must develop mentally and socially. Social development was especially stressed, and the following requirements for social success were given: poise, a good appearance, and the ability to converse well. If one possesses these three qualities, one will be a success socially.

At the conclusion of the program a committee was appointed to arrange for the program to be given at the next meeting.

Junior College Nursery School Has Visitors

The University of Tennessee Junior College Nursery School had four out of town visitors recently. These visitors were: Miss Louise Tarpley of Nashville, who is Supervisor of Emergency Nursery School in Tennessee; Mrs. Lula Ruffin Boulware and Miss Dorris Winn, both of Memphis, who are conducting an Emergency Nursery School in Shelby County, and Miss Geneva Bryant of Newbern, who expects to teach in an Emergency Nursery School in Dyer County.

The Emergency Nursery Schools were made possible a year ago as a part of the relief program throughout the nation. Last year, at one time, as many as eighty-one nursery schools of this type were operated in the state of Tennessee. The greater number of these schools were in cities. This year fewer schools of this type will be operated in the cities, but more of them will be conducted in smaller towns. The Federal Emergency funds pay for the food given the children and pay the salaries of teachers and others employed. The town, county or city must furnish the building and equipment used. No charge is made to those attending, but all children in attendance must be those whose families are receiving government aid.

MRS. SHANKLE TO DO PARENT-EDUCATION WORK

Mrs. Clyce Shankle, nee Nell Lett, who attended the Junior College in 1928-29, and who has been assisting Mrs. Shafer in the clothing and art teaching this fall, will do parent education work in several West Tennessee towns during the winter and spring months. This work which Mrs. Shankle is to do will be financed by the Federal Smith-Hughes Fund, and will be under the supervision of the State Supervisor of Home Economics, Miss Margaret Browder.

Win Over Hiwassee Ends Football Season

By Win of 21-0 Junior Vols Become Highest Scoring Team of Miss.
Valley Conference

On Wednesday afternoon, November 28, the University of Tennessee Junior Vols brought to a fitting close a highly successful season by marching over Hiwassee College, Madisonville, Tenn., to amass a score of 21 to 0. The Junior Vols started rolling up their score in the first period when Grooms snagged a long pass and stepped across the line. In the second quarter Taylor drove 18 yards through the line for a touchdown. The last touchdown was made by Fernstrom on a reverse in the third quarter. Butler made two of the extra points and Fernstrom one.

Most of the game was played in Hiwassee's territory as a result of Greeson's punting. Only once did Hiwassee seriously threaten the Vol's goal line. Then they managed to march to the 2-yard line where they were held by the stubborn Tennessee defense. Hiwassee was thrown back to the 16 yard line on downs before they lost the ball.

This, their concluding game, was the fifth in which the Junior Vols presented their opponents with a neat goose-egg. During the season they have rolled up 236 points to their opponents 19, an average of 27 points per game. Only Bethel, a 4-year college, was able to stop the Junior Vols by the narrow margin of 7 to 6. Two other of the eight opposing teams have represented four-year institutions. No other team has been able to amass nearly as many points as the Junior Vols.

One of the most surprising features of the success of the Junior Vols is the fact that most of the members of the team are freshmen. If the coaching staff has the same material next year, together with the expected addition of outstanding players from ranks of West Tennessee high schools, the Junior Vols promise to make football history in the Mississippi Valley Conference.

The Junior Vols returned by way of Knoxville, where they saw the Thanksgiving struggle between Tennessee and Kentucky.

Frosh Girls Take Speedball Finals

The Freshman girls proved themselves superior to the Sophomores in the speedball finals, held on November 21. The Frosh started the scoring early in the half, running the total up to 11 to 4, where it stood at the end of the half.

The Sophomores came back in the last half determined to redeem themselves, but were unable to overcome the heavy margin held by the Freshmen. The final was 15 to 9 in favor of the Freshmen girls.

The lineup:

Frosh	Pos.	Sophs
Lindsay	C.	Wright
Bushart	R.F.	Tinker
Derryberry	L.F.	Parrish, M.
Matthews	R.E.	Wells
Mayo	L.E.	McDurmon
Diggs	R.H.	Heidelberg
Douglas	L.H.	Lane
Holmes	F.B.	Covington
Bolyjack	R.G.	Kendall
Barnes	L.G.	Frazier
Davis	G.G.	Ellis

Substitutions: Frosh—Cate, Littrell, Young, and Parker. Sophs—Colwick, Harris (Sally), Harris (Kathryn), Sander.

Officials: Lineswomen, McLean and Sander; referee, Elliott; scorekeeper, Hughey; timer, Sadler.

Sophomores Take Touch Football Game

Freshman Passing Attack Falls To Down Soph Team

The Sophomores continued to increase their lead in the intramurals when they overpowered a strong Freshman football team Tuesday afternoon, November 27, with the close score of 8 to 6. The Freshmen's passing attack failed to cause as much trouble as had been expected.

The Frosh drew first blood when Ford Taylor, their captain and star player, sprinted around left end for a touchdown. An attempt to go around right end for the extra point failed. The Freshmen managed to keep the ball in Sophomore territory most of the first half.

Near the beginning of the third

Here are pictured the Junior Vols who amassed 236 points to opponents' 19 to lead all Mississippi Valley Conference teams in scoring ability. Few teams in the country had the scoring power to pile up such a total. Letters were awarded to over a score and a half of these men at the joint banquet given by the Chamber of Commerce and Rotary Club in honor of the College and Martin High School teams.

The photographers asked Coaches Derryberry and Smith to smile and they gave him the works in their scene.

quarter, Taylor was downed behind the Freshman goal line for a two point score. In the same quarter, Bill Miles added six points to the Sophomore total when he received a pass across the Freshman line.

The Freshmen attempted nineteen forward passes and completed seven. The Sophomores tried eleven passes and completed seven. The Freshmen made five first down to three for the Sophomores.

Educational Reforms Discussed by Speakers

Commissioner Explains Recommendations to Northwest Tennessee People at Jr. College Meet

Public Education in Tennessee was the subject of discussion at the education meet at the Junior College on Wednesday, November 28. Governor Hill McAlister, who was to have been the principal speaker, was unable to be present. Senator P. D. Harris was also absent, but sent a copy of his speech to be read at the meeting.

County Superintendent J. M. DeBow of Obion County, presided over the morning session. The speakers were Representative Richard Holliday, Supt. R. L. Browning of Chester County, president of the West Tennessee Teachers Association, High School Superintendent R. R. Vance, and W. A. Bass, secretary of the Tennessee State School Association.

City Supt. J. C. Taylor of Milan, presided at the afternoon session at which Commissioner of Education Walter D. Cocking delivered the principal address. The Commissioner's speech followed the lines of the recommendations of the Educational Commission set up by the legislature for a study of Tennessee's school system. He plead for equal opportunity of all school children and the shifting of the tax burden from local units of government to the state in the establishment of a uniform school system.

Other speakers were President James D. Hoskins of the University of Tennessee, Executive Officer Paul Meek, and Floater L. A. Elliott. Music was furnished by the Martin High School Band and the College Orchestra.
